TWO NEGROES CAUSE TROUBLE

KNOX USES ONE AS VALET; GOVERNMENT FOOTS BILL—WICKERSHAM CHAMPIONS LEWIS.

(By Winfield Jones.)

Washington, March 26.—Everything is not pleasant in the cabinet family of President Taft.

Secretary Knox is under the house committee on expenditures in the state department because he is alleged to be carrying with him on his South American trip a negro employee of the state department mailing room who is drawing a salary as a government mailer, but acting as valet for Knox.

Attorney General Wickersham is engaged in a big row with the American Bar Association over another negro, Assistant Attorney General William H. Lewis, whom the executive committee of the association intends to oust from membership in the association, claiming that Lewis was elected to membership under the understanding that he was a white man.

Knox is carrying the valet on his tour, according to testimony before the committee. It is charged that the colored man is on the rolls of the state department at $1,200 per year.

"We have had before us Robert F. Clayton, superintendent of the mailing room at the state department," says Congressman Hamlin, chairman of the committee. "Clayton swears that Archibald S. Pinkert, a colored man, who, we understand, was formerly employed by the Secretary of State at the capitol when he was a senator, is at present with Secretary Knox on his trip as his valet."

"Clayton told us, while Pinkert was carried on the mailing room payroll at $1,200 per year, he was not at work more than one-third of the time. He was engaged at Mr. Knox's home in some capacity, just what, he did not know."

Mr. Hamlin says Clayton testified that the colored man received $1,200 per year, although other employees receive only from $100 to $750 a year for the same work. Clayton told the committee he had no authority over Pinkert.

That Chief Clerk McNier, of the state department, substantiated Clayton's statement also was asserted by Congressman Hamlin.

The Hamlin committee is also inquiring into the source of the money used by Secretary Knox for his tour. Chief Clerk McNier told the committee, it was asserted that Comptroller Tracewell has ruled that the expense cannot be charged to secret emergency or diplomatic funds of the state department, but might come out of the horse and stable fund. The latter fund is only $8,000.

Knox is not only carrying the negro with him on the tour but his wife and his two sons and their wives are also accompanying the secretary.

Attorney General Wickersham has announced that he would resign from the American Bar Association if that organization sustained the action of its executive committee in ousting negro William H. Lewis from membership.

The executive committee of the American Bar Association recently decided to oust Lewis, who was elected to membership in August 1911. It is said that his application, which was indorsed by a majority of the local council of Massachusetts, did not state that he was a negro, and that this fact was not discovered until arrangements were made to publish the year book of the association for the years 1911-12.

At this time some member inquired into the identity of the new member, and when it was found that he was a negro a storm of protest arose which resulted in the matter of his election being referred to the executive committee of the association which adopted a resolution in January rescinding the vote by which Lewis has been elected to membership.

The matter will be brought up for final action at the meeting of the general council of the association which will meet in Milwaukee next August. The council is composed of one delegate from each state.

RICHARDSON CALLED DOWN

CITIZENS OF VANOSS REPLY TO LETTER BY COMMISSIONER. DEMAND SQUARE DEAL.

In a letter appearing in the Roff Eagle Mr. Richardson states that he was in Vanoss on the same day that Mr. C. M. Long was in Ada interviewing the News regarding the proposed road west of Vanoss. That is true but if he interviewed a single person about the road we have been unable to find out who it was, Mr. Montgomery states that he was with him all day loading some thing and heard him say nothing to any one about the road. Mr. Montgomery further states that he was with Richardson all day and that if he looked over the proposed road he failed to find it out.

PERLBERG SUITS assess the power to persuade people to purchase. Orders taken at LUMLEE'S RESSING ARLOR, phone 326, 118 South Broadway.

His first reason for voting against the proposed road was that there would be two bridges and a culvert to build and a road one mile north and one half south. The road on the north is true and O. K. but the one on the south is across the land of some two or three men and likely to be closed at any time as it is not even on a half mile line. Hence no road leading west from Vanoss without going one and a half miles north or the same south. It is true that there will be some bridges needed but if the road was open we could work the creek banks and cross the creek. This would be better than going around as it is now. The remonstrance filed against the road of twenty five more than for the proposed road may be true or it may not. But as the names are of men who have little interest in the road and as part of them are people who live near Hart and others who live near Lanham, there can be but little interest to them in the proposed road.

Third: there is an ill will towards one Mr. G. W. Hicks. This is absolutely unfounded as there is no one who owes Mr. Hicks any ill will to that extent. It is a section line wanted opened and also a township line. We are proud of Mr. Hicks' interest in this vicinity. Mr. Hicks owns only a part of the road as proposed. It crosses other men's land. It seems as if Mr. Richardson construes it that Mr. Hicks is the only man who is interested or bothered with the road.

Fourth: the road was up before the old commissioners is true but alas,

Mr. Hicks promised the road to them if they would only wait until the crop was out of the field. They have waited now nearly three years for the crop to be gathered. So it is clear that Mr. Hicks does not intend to open the road. We judge it will be opened when he can't resort to any means to keep it closed. It will take some of his dollars to fence on each side of the section line.

Now if Mr. Richardson is so patriotic over taxation, why did he not show his colors when there was a court being established at Roff that would take hundreds of dollars of the people's money from other parts of the county and concentrate it there for Roff's benefit? Strain a gnat and swallow a camel. A country road asked for and rejected. A court asked for in Roff and granted. Fair play is it? Judge yourself.

Signed by every business man in Vanoss.

Chas. M. Long, J. S. Jones, C. L. Jones, A. H. White, W. J. Standridge, D. M. Brook, merchants; J. M. McCauley, cashier Vanoss bank; J. E. Kinsey, C. L. Berger, P. H. Webb, merchants.

HASKELL WILL OPEN AT ADA

ACCEPTS INVITATION TO DELIVER OPENING SPEECH HERE ON APRIL 6.

Some days ago a number of his friends wrote to Gov. Haskell, inviting him to open his campaign for the U. S. senate at Ada. Today they received a letter from him accepting the invitation and setting Saturday, April 6, as the date of his coming. The hour of the address will probably be 1:30.

This opening speech will probably be the most important of the entire campaign, dealing with the issues of the day and his position on them. He will also outline his platform and lay the foundation for his subsequent campaign.

Gov. Haskell has a host of friends and admirers at Ada and will receive a hearty welcome when he comes.

SMILE AWHILE

And when you smile, another smiles, and soon there are miles. And miles of smiles. And life's worth while, because you smile. —Apothecary.

Now a man can help his Mother, Wife or Sweetheart to smile, help in many varied ways. You know how it used to be considered very impolite to smoke in a lady's presence. But now, frequently you hear some lady say, "My what a fine odor that cigar has," (she is evidently speaking of a Black and White) or "I do love the smell of such good tobacco," referring of course, to Gwin & Mays' Reputation, that excellent 5c Cigar, which we have made up of blended Tobaccos, Port Rican, Havana and Domestic.

If you prefer straight Domestic goods, we can give you "The G. M. C. Special, a cigar we made up in 5,000 lots at $38.00 a thousand and to sell at 5c and no better Domestic tobacco can be secured. If you favor a Rich, Havana aroma, we have chosen for your good pleasure the Norma Martinez, made in Tampa, a cigar which costs us $40.00 per thousand and sells for 5c straight, or the Salome, which costs us $30.00 per thousand, is a slightly milder Havana, a little sweeter and sells 6 for a quarter. Since there are so many brands of Cigars popularized today, we are compelled to carry both GOOD and BAD cigars. Let us point you to the good ones.

By way of promoting peace and harmony in the homes of Oklahoma City, the Oklahoman imported a domestic science teacher who is conducting a free cooking school. It is said that 2,000 ladies were present at the first gathering of the class and 300 more were unable to crowd their way into the building. The divorce industry will probably decline considerably.

And even the tired and hard up newspaper man will soon have a place to take a much needed rest. A site has been donated at Medicine Park, near Lawton, and the publishers will erect a suitable country club house, where each member of the association may go and spend as much time as he likes or can buy grub to sustain life while taking his ease among the mountains. To make it within reach of all, the papers will donate advertising space which will be disposed of by an agent and the proceeds applied to the improvements that are to be made.

Eufaula held its municipal election last week. The grandfather clause was as strictly enforced as it was in the election of 1910 and a democratic administration was elected. The republicans realize that the grandfather clause is the law of the state, and for that reason excluded negroes from their recent county conventions and refused to elect any negro as a delegate to the Chicago convention. It is interesting to note the rapidity with which the republican party loses its passion for the political rights of the negro as he loses his ability to vote.

Tennessee Democrats are having a hard time trying to harmonize their differences and get together once more. So far all efforts at conciliation have failed. The rank and file of the party are anxious to bury the past and unite for future victories, but too many self appointed leaders are in the way and will have to be chucked overboard into the sea of oblivion before much headway can be made in the direction of the port of harmony. The only thing to do is to give every man a square and an equal chance in a general primary, or Tennessee will be captured again by the republicans as sure as fate.

Beyond any room for doubt the power heretofore exercised by the national conventions of the two parties will after this year be taken over by the people and presidential primaries will settle the question of the people's choice. In five states this is already the case, and the demand of the people for a larger voice in the matter must be heeded, whether the political bosses like it or not. Of course the latter will kick on losing their control of the nominating machinery, but the demand is a steam roller for which they must make way or be ground to a pulp.

There seems to be considerable uncertainty concerning spring municipal elections. A number of attorneys who have examined the matter express the opinion that the law makes no provision for such election in even numbered years, and that as a consequence there will be only one alderman and one member of the school board from each ward of a city instead of two as at present. Still some towns are preparing to go ahead as usual and have held primaries to select nominees for these offices. Ada, among others, held no primary and no election can be held in April, thus leaving the number of aldermen and school board members at half the present number.

COTTON SEED AND ITS USES.

Any person of middle age can remember the time when cotton seed was considered practically worthless. A man could get all he wanted if he would take the trouble to go to the gin and haul them away for this product had little place in the economy of the world. People living in the prairie sections of the South burned cotton seed for fuel. Now, however, all this is changed. It has been found that the meal and hulls make better stock feed than the raw seed, and that the meal can also be made into palatable and nourishing food for human beings. The oil is used for many purposes, especially in the manufacture of soap and as a substitute for lard. New uses are being found for this important product of the South, all of which serve to add just that much more to the wealth of this favored section.

PRESIDENT OF GIRLS' COLLEGE RESIGNS

It is understood that the resignation is to be effective at the close of the school year.

Public School Notes.

Notwithstanding the meningitis scare the attendance in the public schools was larger Monday than at any time for the past two months.

Judge A. M. Croxton was a visitor at the High school last Wednesday and made a most excellent address to the students at the chapel period. Rev. C. L. Brooks was a welcome visitor at Willard school last Wednesday and talked to the pupils at chapel. These visits of patrons and friends of the schools are appreciated by the faculty and students of the public schools and hope to have more of them.

The High school base ball team played the Normal Friday evening and the game resulted in a score of 9 to 2 in favor of the Normal. After the first inning the High school boys played excellent ball and allowed the state team to gain only one score on them.

The public school term is rapidly drawing to a close and the pupils are beginning to think of final exams.

Supt. Robison is arranging uniform questions for examination of all pupils above the third grade.

The High school pupils will put on a play about the last of April. The title of the play is "A Case of Suspension."

The City Teachers' Institute will meet next Saturday at the High school. The principal subject for discussion at the meeting is "Attention and Its Relation to the Educational Process."

The teachers are always glad to have visitors at these meetings.

Attention R. A. Masons.

S.S.S. NATURE'S TONIC

The very great majority of persons need a tonic in the Spring or early Summer. The system undergoes a change at this season and the entire physical machinery is disturbed. The general bodily weakness, a tired, worn-out feeling, hickles, appetite, poor digestion, a half sick feeling and a general run-down condition of the system, show that the blood is weak or anaemic, and a blood purifying tonic is needed to build up the deranged system and enrich the blood. The use of S.S.S. at this time may save you from a long spell of sickness, and it will certainly prepare you for the long, hot Summer. Many people have put off using a tonic until the system became so weakened and depleted it could not successfully throw off disease germs, and have paid for the neglect with a spell of fever, malaria or some other debilitating sickness. S.S.S. is Nature's ideal tonic. It is a composition of the extracts and juices of roots, herbs and barks which science and experience have proven are best fitted for a tonic to the human system. It contains no minerals of any kind and is therefore perfectly safe for persons of any age. S.S.S. tones up the stomach and digestion, rids the system of that tired, worn-out feeling, and imparts vigor and strength to every part of the body. It purifies and enriches the blood, stimulates the secreting and excreting members to better action, quiets the overstrained nerves, and makes one feel better in every way.

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

The News desires to call special attention to the entertainment that will be given at the Normal auditorium Tuesday evening by the Strollers' Quartette. This is one of the numbers of the high class lyceum course contracted for by the Twentieth Century club for the purpose of raising funds for a scholarship in the normal for deserving girls. Although the course is an exceptionally strong one it has happened that bad weather has seriously interfered with almost every number. For once it is to be hoped that conditions will be more favorable and that the ladies will have no reason to be disappointed in their enterprise.

Take HERBINE for indigestion. It relieves the pain in a few minutes and forces the fermented matter which causes the misery into the bowels where it is expelled. Price 50c. Sold by Ramsey Drug Co.

J. B. Giles returned this morning from Ardmore, where he was called to figure on the construction of a reinforced concrete residence for J. S. Downard.

Linebaugh Claims Majority.

Oklahoma City, Okla., March 25.—Friends of D. H. Linebaugh of Atoka, candidate for democratic state chairman, announce tonight that he has forty-five votes, six more than a majority, pledged. His election, they say, will only be prevented by the committee adopting a resolution restricting the election to a member of the committee, which Linebaugh is not.

In the event of such restriction an effort will be made to transfer the Linebaugh strength to Thomas Harrell of Wagoner, who also has the support of the administration.

Neat Window Display.

We note with much interest the way some of our enterprising local dealers are putting forth every effort this spring to make their stores attractive. This week Ramsey Drug Co. whose progressive policy has been strongly shown this spring by their large, attractive advertisements in our columns, have a fine window devoted entirely to house paint.

On close inspection one finds not only the usual display of paint cans but long cards showing rows of houses in new and handsome combinations of colors for exterior painting. An attractive window border brightens the appearance of the whole store and draws much attention from the passers-by. It attractively illustrates how easily and well any shabby surface in or about the house can be fixed up. Ramsey Drug Co. deserves much credit for this window and we are sure it will prove of much benefit in reminding people of the many things around their homes that can easily be beautified at house-cleaning time.

FACTS ABOUT BILL FOR INDIAN ENROLLMENT

Washington, March 25.—After several conferences between tribal attorneys and representatives and Oklahoma members of congress, a tentative agreement on the re-opening of the tribal rolls was reached today, and on the strength of this agreement Representative Carter of Oklahoma will tomorrow introduce a bill providing for the winding up of the affairs of the five civilized tribes, including a final closing of the rolls.

The bill provides for the readjudication of certain enrollment cases, and another final closing of the tribal rolls, for the classification and sale of the so-called timber reserve as agricultural, timber and grazing lands, and of all other tribal property except the mineral deposits in the segregated mineral land, and for a per capita distribution of all tribal funds. The readjudication of the rolls embraces about 500 cases in classes as follows:

First. The so-called departmental list of 52.

Second. The so-called Pollock list transmitted by the Secretary of the Interior to the House Committee on Indian Affairs, about 250.

Third. The names of those persons "whose enrollment on the final approved rolls of the five civilized tribes was directed by the Secretary of the Interior within six months prior to March 4, 1907, but whose names did not appear on said final approved rolls, who had no opportunity to be heard in the final adjudication.

It is claimed that the third list will not exceed 200.

The two sections with reference to the readjudication of the tribal rolls are the result of a compromise between the tribal attorneys and the attorneys representing claimants for citizenship. While the tribal attorneys refused to sign any iron-clad agreement on enrollment legislation, they expressed themselves as being satisfied with the arrangement as set forth in the agreement, providing they could be given assurance that this list would not be enlarged, and the act closing the rolls would be final and conclusive.

While the enrollment understanding does not meet with the unqualified approval of Mr. Carter, he will have it incorporated in his bill, and says he will abide by its consequences, since this seems to be about the only condition under which any legislation for the disposition of tribal affairs will receive consideration during the present congress.

The Pollock list in its original form contained about 530 names, 279 of which were minor Choctaw freedmen. On the objection of Mr. Carter the negro babies went out of the agreement, and will not be included in the bill, which will leave 251 names (all Indians) in the Pollock list.

WILL BE DEADLY FOE DELEHANTY TO RETIRE

GERMAN CLAIMS HE CAN MAKE AIRSHIP INVISIBLE.

Proposed Terror Is to Be as Large as the Steamer Olympic and Able to Defy the Telescope at the Distance of a Mile.

The invisible airship has already been patented by its inventor Baron Roenne. Baron Roenne is well known in England as an airship and naval engineer, so more respect must be paid to his ideas than to those who try inventing without any technical knowledge.

Baron Roenne has submitted his idea to the officials at the Greenwich Royal Observatory, and they declare that it is based on scientific principles, and most certainly practicable. They way this remarkable airship is made invisible is as follows:

Take a white wall and paste a white sheet of paper on it. At a distance of a few feet you may be able to detect where the paper leaves off and the wall begins. At a hundred yards the wall looks all wall. You would never suspect the paper of being there, if you did not know already. That is Baron Roenne's idea.

The outside covering of his airship is made of metal, the composition of which is a secret. It is almost as strong as steel, yet it only weighs one-fourth as much. No hydrogen can leak from a vessel made of it, so the danger of an airship exploding from that cause disappears.

It is due to the discovery of chromium, in fact, that the invisible airship is possible. The most important thing about the metal, as far as Baron Roenne is concerned, is that it possesses a very highly polished surface.

This is covered over with a thin coating of transparent varnish. The whole surface of the dirigible, in fact, acts as a mirror, and reflects the same color as its surroundings. If the sky is blue, so is the airship. If the sky is dull, so is the airship.

The sides of the keel of this new airship are also reflecting mirrors, and by an ingenious arrangement of them the darker shade reflected from the earth is made lighter. The keel will taper to a point, and thus there will be no shadow on the bottom of the airship. In fact, it will be like the chameleon, and always like the color of its surroundings. In other words, it will be invisible.

Baron Roenne's new terror of the skies will be as large as the Olympic. The Olympic, if it could float in the sky, would easily be detected at a height of four or five miles, yet Roenne's dirigible will be absolutely invisible, even to telescopes, at a distance of less than a mile!

It is designed to carry 400 passengers, or their equivalent in cargo, and it will be fitted with 15 motors, developing nearly 2,000 horse power. Patients have already been taken out in England.

What this "new sky scraper" will mean in time of war can hardly be realized. It could carry enough ammunition to utterly wreck any city, or blow the world's biggest navy to pieces.—Pearson's Weekly.

Ah-Tish-Oot!

The only attention we pay to a sneeze at the present day is to endeavor to get rid of the chill which causes it, but a sneeze in the days of old Greece was a matter of great concern and import.

There was then a god of sneezing, and great undertakings would even be abandoned if a man sneezed at an inappropriate moment, the act being looked upon as the oracle of the god.

A sneeze between midnight and noon was looked upon as a fortunate sign, but between noon and midnight it betokened great misfortune. To sneeze to your right was lucky; to the left unlucky. Two or four sneezes were lucky, one or three very unlucky, and any undertaking in hand should, if possible, be abandoned; more than four sneezes did not count.

There is a saying in many parts of England today, "Once a wish, twice a kiss, three times a letter, four times something better." If people sneezed together it was a good sign, particularly if they happened to be discussing business.

Biddy's Blunder.

Mrs. Howard Hinkle has recently had a remarkable experience with a new Irish girl:

"Biddy," said she, one evening, "we must have some sausages for tea this evening. I expect company."

"Yes, ma'am."

Tea time arrived, and with it, the company; the table was spread, the tea was simmering, but no sausage appeared.

"Where are the sausages, Biddy?" inquired Mrs. Hinkle.

"And sure they're in the tay-pot, ma'am! Didn't you tell me we must have 'em for tay?"

As a Man Is Known.

"A man, like a watch, is known by his works," observed the epigram maker.

"And by the hours he keeps," added the wife.

"And by the spring in him," said the athlete.

"And by his being sometimes fast," remarked the reformer.

"And by the way his hands go up," put in the pugilist.

"And by his not always going when we want him to," finished the girl who'd been robbed of her beauty sleep.

Veteran Baseball Player Wants to Be Policeman.

Story Circulated in Cleveland That Second Baseman of Detroit Tigers Took Examination for Job on Police Force.

Jim Delehanty, veteran baseball player and second baseman of the Detroit Tigers, may quit the game after more than a decade of strenuous work on the diamond with various teams to become a policeman at Cleveland, says a special dispatch to the Chicago News. It was announced that Delehanty had taken the examination and had won sixth place on the eligible list. There are 100 men on the eligible list.

Delehanty walked off with great honors in the physical examination at the Orange avenue bath house and in the mental examination his showing was also far above the average.

Delehanty lives at 11908 Superior avenue, Cleveland, and is a member of the Detroit baseball team. He has been a member of that team for three years and prior to that time he was a Washington player.

The intimation that Delehanty is "all in" recalls the record he made in a game with the Philadelphia Athletics last fall when his terrific batting was the feature. It is as follows:

His first time up saw Del hit the ball at a mile-a-minute gait to left field. In the fourth inning he hit a terrific grass-cutter to Baker. The latter just barely fielded the ball, and when he made a belated throw to first Del scrambled to second. In the fifth inning Del poked a clean hit to center field.

It was in the seventh inning when Delehanty pulled off his greatest hit. This was a line drive to deep right, and although Murphy fielded the ball in a hurry, the pill was hit so hard that

Jim Delehanty.

Delehanty had little trouble making the circuit of the bases. Del had contributed his share all right, but he insisted on "butting in" on the fracas in the glorious eighth. In this inning he took a healthy swing on one of Plank's curves and this time tripped to right field. If Del had hurried on this cloud the chances are that he would have stretched it into a home run.

TAKES RIGHTFUL PLACE

JAPANESE MERCHANT RAISED IN SOCIAL SCALE.

Heretofore Only the Soldier Has Been Looked Upon as Following a Worthy Calling—Emperor Has Changed This Idea.

Japanese business methods have been widely criticized, especially in the last few years, as lacking those standards of commercial honor which prevail among Occidental nations. A writer in the Atlantic says that the question most frequently put to him since his return from the Orient has been:

"Why is it that the Japanese are so dishonest that they cannot even trust themselves, and have to employ Chinamen at the head of all their great business concerns?"

He explains this almost universal impression by saying that the average tourist usually has business relations only with the branches of the three great banks established in the treaty ports. When he cashes his letter of credit he observes the singular fact that the money is being handled by a Chinaman instead of by a native.

"The simple truth," says the writer, "is that these three banks—all of them, by the way, foreign concerns—are the only business houses in the entire empire so conducted. When Japan was opened and these foreign corporations in China sent their branches into the new field, they sent their Chinese compradores with them."

"Yes, while all this can be said, and should be said, in the interest of simple justice, it is nevertheless undeniable that in Japan the ideals of commercial honor and the methods adopted in the conduct of business are not what they are in the west, and there is much of which the Occidental may justly complain."

"There is a historical reason for this. The fact that in the olden days in Japan the merchant was placed at the bottom of the social scale and the soldier at the top, while in China exactly the reverse was the case, fully explains why Japan has produced a splendid soldiery, and has woefully suffered in her mercantile life, while the army in China has been the sport of the nations though her merchants have attained a high place in the world of business credit."

"But even though the 'cake of custom' is the hardest to break, its power of resistance has been already materially weakened by the wise policy of the emperor; and the merchant is no longer the pariah of the realm. Prominent among those who by the emperor's favor have risen from the social dust into places of highest honor is a family whose history is significant."

"The Mitsui family of Japan have been called the Rothschilds of the east; but while the fame of the latter has gone abroad over the world the Mitsuis have remained practically unknown except to a few western merchants who have had extensive dealings with the Orient. The European family owes its great renown to the fact that for a century there has been no slightest stain upon its commercial honor."

"But its career, it should be remembered, has been passed in a world where business itself has been held in honor; while the Mitsuis, engaged in a pursuit utterly condemned by public sentiment, for three centuries, in spite of the demoralizing influence of the social ban, have been trusted by government and people alike, and have kept the honor of their name unstained. Now, thanks to the new spirit animating the nation, they no longer stand so conspicuously alone."

SAGE TEA WILL DARKEN THE HAIR

Restores Faded and Gray Hair to Natural Color—Dandruff Quickly Removed.

There is nothing new about the idea of using sage for restoring the color of the hair. Our great-grandmothers kept their locks soft, dark and glossy by using a "sage tea." Whenever their hair fell out or took on a dull, faded or streaked appearance they made a brew of sage leaves and applied it to their hair, with wonderfully beneficial effect.

Nowadays we don't have to resort to old-time, tiresome methods of gathering the herbs and making the tea. This is done by skillful chemists better than we could do it ourselves, and all we have to do is to call for the ready-made product, Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy containing sage in the proper strength, with the addition of sulphur, another old-time scalp remedy.

The manufacturers of this remedy authorize druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

Don't neglect your hair. Get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur today, and notice the difference after a few days use.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle. Special Agents, Gwin & Mays Drug Co.

CLOCKS OF TURKEY.

Poor Tell Time by Their Hands or by Cats' Eyes.

Fifty years ago a watch or a clock was almost as rare in Turkey as an aeroplane is in America now. Even today in the smaller cities and villages, house clocks are a luxury of the rich.

Nature supplies the clock of the poor. The crow of the cock is their simplest timepiece; the sun is the most dependable and convenient; the cat's eye is the most difficult to learn and the most amusing to consult.

One of their methods of telling time by the sun is to make a kind of sundial of their hands. They hold their thumbs so that they touch each other horizontally, and extend the forefingers up perpendicular. Then they divide the thumb and forefinger of each hand into six parts, nominal hour points, one hand representing the morning and the other the afternoon. According to this division, where the thumbs join is 12 o'clock, the tip of one forefinger represents 6 o'clock in the morning and the tip of the other 6 o'clock in the afternoon. The hours between 12 and 6 fall at different points between the junction of the thumbs and the tips of the forefingers.

Telling the time by cat's eye sounds absurd, but it can be done. Every one, perhaps, is not aware that the shape of the cat's eye undergoes a progressive change during the day. In the morning the pupil is gradually narrows, until at noon it becomes merely a narrow streak. From noon to night it reverses its action, becomes oval at about 3 o'clock, and is again round at about 6. It is common to see old people, especially, call the cat in order to look at its eyes, and thus get some idea of the hour.—Kansas City Journal.

The Guthrie Leader is authority for the statement that Ada has just voted $55,000 in bonds for a supply of water to come from wells five miles northeast of the city. Either the Leader is about a year behind the times, or else it got its wires crossed and got Ada mixed up with some other place that is following the example set by this city a year ago.

N. B. Stall has engaged an assistant to take full charge of his studio from now on. Stall himself will probably retire from the business. His assistant is a fine, clever, well educated young gentleman. He arrived yesterday morning at 5 o'clock, and weighed 8 pounds.

The Majestic will present three reels of pictures this evening. One of these is a strong drama entitled: "The First Violin." It is full of human interest from start to finish. A laughable comedy entitled: "Everything Comes to Him Who Waits," shows a few of the troubles of a waiter. The third gives a panoramic view of a thousand mile trip through the Rockies.

A. S. Hoover, who will open a clothing store in the building being erected on East Main street between the Shaw building and that occupied by Harvey Luther, arrived today and is making his arrangements to open up just as quickly as the building is completed, which at the present rate of progress will be only a short time. Mr. Hoover is an enterprising young man who will add materially to the circle of business men of Ada. It may also interest the girls of Ada to know that Mr. Hoover will be an addition to the numerous colony of bachelors who form so important a group in the citizenship of the city.

J. E. Surratt of Oklahoma City, secretary of the State Retailers' association, was in conference with the local organization this afternoon devising plans for creating an increased interest in its workings.

A Rational Holiday Schedule.

A writer in the Survey observes that the irregular distribution of the holidays throughout the year and their changing coincidence with the days of the week often entail hardship on the workday world. "For instance, where a holiday falls on Tuesday or Friday, many business concerns seize the opportunity in dull time to cut their pay roll by closing down on the Monday preceding or Saturday following, thus enforcing a two-day holiday with corresponding loss to the employee; then again, when such holidays fall in mid-week, the holiday spirit on the days preceding the following seriously interferes with the efficiency of the worker and thus involves a hardship on the employer." The remedy proposed is the transposition of most holidays to Mondays and their more even distribution throughout the year; thus Washington Day would be observed on the Monday following February 22, Lincoln Day on the first Monday in April, and so on. "This order would secure for our industrial army a two and one-half days' respite from toil, with loss of only one day's pay, and would insure for the employer a better week's product from five consecutive days' labor after two and one-half days' rest." The reformer excepts Christmas and New Year's Day from the working of this rule, but he certainly ought to make the reformation complete and include them, says The Journal of the American Medical association, and, while the operating instruments are sterilized and ready, free Easter from its adhesions to the vernal equinox by giving it a definite date.

How to Tell a Woman's Age.

(From the New York Sun.) A Parisian gourmet believes he has found an infallible method for getting at a woman's age. Watch her at dinner.

If she goes through every course, chatting all the time, and is equal to an ice after dessert, not to mention chocolate and crystallized fruits, she is still in her teens.

If she makes a good start with the hors d'oeuvres, does well with the caviare, salmon and such delicacies, but shows no interest in the rest of the meal, she is between 20 and 30 and married.

When she declines every other kind of game, but takes some pheasant, she has passed 30, but has not yet reached 35.

After 35 she dotes on every kind of game, the more highly flavored the better.

If at the end of dinner she takes cheese, showing special partiality for the odorous Vamembert, then, says the Parisian observer, there can be no manner of doubt about it, she is a woman of uncertain age.

Claimed Spanish Throne.

Macon, Ga., March 26.—The death of John B. DeMontmolin, a Confederate veteran here, has brought to light documents that claimed to show that he was the rightful heir to the throne of Spain. The papers, which were secreted in DeMontmolin's houseboat on the Ocmulgee river, are said to be of convincing character. DeMontmolin always maintained that he should have become king when Alfonso XII, father of the present monarch, began his reign.

The documents show several communications from Alfonso XII in relation to the claim. They also show an offer of a large sum of money from General Weyler, Spanish commander in Cuba, but DeMontmolin refused to consider the offer.

The American claimant was 74 years old and was born in Savannah, Ga. He was a marine engineer by profession but for some years has led a secluded life.

In No Country is the Sport So Well Beloved by Women as It Is In Ireland.

Hunting absorbs keen sportswomen in Ireland, and it is seldom that a frost drives the Irish follower to hounds from the countryside. Irish women are renowned for their fearless prowess in the hunting field, where the terrible obstacles to be negotiated call for nerves of steel, and it is neck or nothing in the distressful country, says the London Daily Graphic.

The fearsome stone walls, sometimes overgrown with turf and masking a brook, appal all but the stoutest hearts, and even the most hardened sportswoman is known to quail at the commencement of the hunting season, experiencing the sensation of the heart in the mouth when called upon to face the stiff going. She finds her nerve returning, however, after a day or so in the saddle.

The late empress of Austria used to hunt regularly in Ireland, where her reckless and brilliant horsemanship is still spoken of. With the late Bay Middleton to give her a lead, she was always in the first fight and stuck at nothing. The famous happy-go-lucky hospitality that marks the Irish temperament is exemplified in matters sporting, and open house is kept by those having accommodation in a good hunting district.

The Irish colleen will dance all night at a hunt ball and turn up at a distant meet as fresh as paint without going to bed at all, full of life and spirit, with wit and repartee bubbling like a font. The Irish country brings out all the dare devil Irish nature, and there is little searching for gaps or gates when the blood of Irish horse and rider is up.

Ireland is not overrepresented in the matter of hunting, and Irish packs are not by any means numerous, and may be reckoned to number a couple of dozen. Some only possess quite a restricted number of couples, and but few hunt four or five days a week, though an occasional by-day may bring the total up. The Meath hunts five days a week and is one of the famous hunts of the United Kingdom, and the County Galway, the Blazers, has four days a week.

Care for His Guests.

If Dickens was particular regarding the equipment of his own bedroom he was equally careful for the comfort of his guests. Charles Dolby, in "Charles Dickens as I Knew Him," says of the bedrooms at Gad's Hill: "Each of these rooms contained the most comfortable of beds, a sofa, an easy chair, cane-bottomed chairs—in which Mr. Dickens himself had a great belief, always preferring to use one himself—a large-sized writing table, profusely supplied with paper and envelopes of every conceivable size and description, and an almost daily change of new quill pens. There was a miniature library of books in each room, a comfortable fire in winter, with a shining copper kettle in each fireplace; and, on a side table, cups, saucers, tea caddy, teapot, sugar and milk."

A peculiarity of the household, adds Mr. Dolby, was the fact that, except at table, no servant was ever seen about.

His Dreams Come True.

A number of interesting stories are told of F. P. Nicola, Pittsburgh's most dazzling operator, by Isaac F. Marcoss in his article, "The Millionaire Yield of Pittsburgh," in Munsey. One of them deals with the erection of his famous hostelry, says the writer. "About 12 years ago Nicola built a million-dollar hotel in an out-of-the-way corn-field. People thought he was insane. Now he has reared about it a whole city center, which includes a memorial hall, an armory, and fine clubs, and will in time embrace the new University of Pittsburgh. It was Mr. Nicola who vivified a string of decrepit railroad properties, and sold them to George J. Gould as the nucleus of the Pittsburgh division of the Wabash system. He is a dreamer of indomitable will, and he has seen some of his big dreams come true."

ALMOST 13,000 BALES RECEIVED

With the cotton season practically closed, the receipts at Ada are a trifle under 13,000. However, as there are a few scattering bales still being held by farmers in the trade territory around Ada, it is possible that the 13,000 mark may yet be reached. As the figures stand now the receipts of the 1911 crop are over 2,000 above those for 1910.

Sherwood Hill reports an even 11,000 bales received at the county yard, the gins shipped not less than 400 bales direct, and the round bale gin has turned out 2,728, equal to 1,364 square bales, making a grand total of 12,764.

Getting Even With Show.

A young man had taken his wife to a show, according to Everybody's, and as there was no one to look after the baby they had brought it along. It cried lustily all through the first act. At the close of the act an usher came down the aisle and informed them that if they could not keep the baby quiet they would have to go to the box office, get their money back and go out.

They succeeded in squelching the baby, and all went well for a time. Then, five minutes after the last act had commenced, the young father leaned over and said: "How do you like the show?"

"Rotten!" was the reply. He was silent for a moment, and then, leaning over again, he whispered: "Stick a pin in the baby!" Philadelphia Record.

Card of Thanks.

We desire to express our sincere thanks to our friends and to the W. O. W. for their many acts of kindness and sympathy during the time of the illness and death of our child. We shall always remember these with the deepest of gratitude. W. A. ELLISON and WIFE.

A word of encouragement to one who is down in his luck and feels tempted to give up the fight is often like lifting the curtain that shuts out the light and prevents one from seeing that there is still some brightness in the world.

NORMAL NEWS.

The flowers and shrubs recently ordered have arrived and will be set out soon. All the underbrush has been cut out off the wooded portion of the campus and the trees will all be trimmed soon.

The primary grades of the Model school will tend the flowers at the north approach to the building under the direction of Miss Timberlake.

President Frank Buck of the Northeastern State Normal will visit our school on next Friday. He will accompany the debaters of that school who will debate with East Central on next Friday night. Six new students, all out of town people, enrolled today.

President Briles returned from Wewoka Saturday. He states that quite a number of teachers from that county will attend the normal during the summer term.

The class in "Cicero" will suffer an examination soon.

On account of the bad weather Saturday the baseball team did not go to Sulphur. Our schedule begins in earnest this week. Our opening games on the home ground are Thursday and Friday of this week when we meet the Tishomingo A. & M. College. On Monday and Tuesday, April 1 and 2, we play return games there and on Wednesday following we make the Sulphur trip. Definite announcement concerning other games will be made later.

The "seniors" complain of being worked to death. In addition to their regular school work they are getting out the school annual, working on the class play, and making many final preparations for their graduation.

The enrollment will increase steadily from now on as the rural schools over the state are closing and the teachers are beginning to come in for the regular courses offered by the normals in both credit and review works.

"Papa," asks the little boy, "why do they say a woman is 'setting her cap' for a man when she wants to marry him?"

"Because, my son," explains the father softly, "if she sets her bonnet for him she knows blamed well the price of it will scare him to death."

Governor Calls for Aid.

Governor Cruce Saturday evening issued a proclamation calling on the people of the state to send money, clothing and food to the families of miners who lost their lives in the terrible disaster at McCurtain last week, in which between fifty and 100 miners were killed. The governor directs that all contributions be sent to Fred Holt, secretary of the Miners' Union at McAlester.

COUNCIL ORDERS WATER EXTENSIONS

The council meeting of Monday evening was a very tame affair, as there is no question of general importance before the city fathers demanding consideration at this time.

Sometime ago President Briles made a proposition to the effect that if the city would grade East Main he would see that the weeds were kept down. The council instructed the city engineer to prepare an estimate of the cost of the work and submit same at next meeting.

Extensions of the water system were ordered in the alleys between Main and 12th and 13th east of Constant, and on East 9th from Hope to Francis.

COMMERCIALIZED POLITICS.

Mark Hanna First to Utilize "Big Business" Methods in Conducting Campaigns.

"Mark Hanna's success in politics was chiefly due to the fact that he was a very keen business man," says Isaac F. Marcossan in an article entitled "The Millionaire Yield of Cleveland."

In his lifetime he acquired oil lands, street railways, foundries, a newspaper, and a theater. His street car interests in Cleveland made him a storm center in public affairs long before that memorable day when he first encountered the struggling young Ohio lawyer, William McKinley, whose political destiny he was to do so much to mold, and whom he was eventually to land in the white house.

"It was Mark Hanna who, in a sense, commercialized American politics, for he ran it as a huge business proposition."

HASKELL CHALLENGES OWEN TO A JOINT DEBATE.

Oklahoma City, Okla., March 25.—A challenge for a series of joint debates was issued by ex-Governor C. N. Haskell to United States Senator R. L. Owen, whom he is opposing for the senate, and appeared in the last issue of Haskell's paper, the New State Tribune, published in McAlester.

In a signed statement the ex-Governor says that every man shall know the truth before he is called upon to vote, "if it is possible for us to discover the truth." He says he will "back" every statement he makes in his claim that Senator Owen is not a good democrat and does not support his party principles. The statement continued:

"We challenge Senator Owen's sincerity or his lack of democracy and at any time Senator Owen will fix the time or the place we will be there, in his presence, to say every word that we would say or print in his presence so that he may show that I am wrong, if that be true, and let him name the place and times."

The ex-governor also charges that Senator Owen employs republican newspapers to criticize him.

Harvesting Kaffir Corn.

The custom in Butler county, Kansas, is to wait until after the kaffir corn has had a light frost. It is then cut with the corn harvester and shocked. After curing in the shock for several weeks, the bundles are headed by a knife attached to a wagon box, and the fodder is reshocked. The heads are stacked just like the hay is stacked and the threshing is done whenever they get to it during the winter. Handled in this way, there is very little trouble from heating. A great deal of kaffir corn is fed without threshing, the heads being ground in an ordinary sweep mill with kaffir corn attachments. Kaffir corn must be ground to get the best results for feeding. If each acre of cotton was matched with an acre of kaffir corn, the feed question and reduction of cotton acreage question would be solved.

WILL ROOSEVELT BOLT CONVENTION?

Washington, March 25.—If the Roosevelt people bolt the Indiana republican convention when they are outvoted by the Taft forces tomorrow, it will be accepted by many politicians in Washington as evidence that Roosevelt means to bolt the Chicago convention if he fails to snatch the nomination from Taft, and will run as an independent republican candidate on a radical progressive, or "popular government," platform, and all the advice received here from Indiana today indicated that Senator Beveridge and former Republican State Chairman Lee, leaders of the Roosevelt forces, were preparing to lead a bolt from tomorrow's state convention, hold a rump convention composed of the Roosevelt delegates and thus lay the foundations for a big contest over the Indiana votes in the Chicago National convention.

The Roosevelt leaders will justify this course of action by allegations that the apparent Taft majority in the Indiana convention was obtained by the corrupt and lavish use of money in the primaries, by the interference of Federal office holders and generally by sharp practices and fraud. That the Taft people have a clear and safe majority of the delegates to tomorrow's convention in Indiana is indicated by all the information reaching Washington from impartial sources, as well as by the figures given out at the Taft headquarters here.

But Senator Beveridge and former State Chairman Lee continue to insist that Roosevelt has a majority in the convention and are preparing to hold a convention of their own if they are outvoted.

Evidence that the Roosevelt people are preparing to bolt the Chicago convention if things go against them there is seen not only in the Indiana situation, but in events that have taken place in some districts in various states. In the Second Tennessee and Third Oklahoma districts, although there were no evidences or allegations of irregularity in their action in electing instructed delegates for Taft, the Roosevelt forces withdrew and held separate conventions, elected Roosevelt delegates and served notice of contest before the national convention at Chicago.

All these straws are regarded by politicians here as tending to show that there will be similar action by the Roosevelt forces at Chicago when the national convention turns down the colonel and makes Taft the nominee of the party.

Great Guns, Democrats! The Kansas City Star is now comparing Roosevelt to our great Jackson. This reminds us of the story about Roosevelt asking an old negro to borrow his bird dog. The negro refused. Then Roosevelt said: "Look here, I am president of the United States." The negro replied, "I don't keer if you's Booker T. Washington, you kaint have dat dawg."—McAlester Register.

CLEVELAND'S FAMOUS SECOND BASEMAN

By HOMER CROY.

Whatever Rhode Island is or hopes to be she owes to Senator Aldrich and Napoleon Lajoie. She wouldn't be on the map today, but would be found with a star in a footnote at the bottom of the page if it were not for Napoleon Lajoie, assisted by Mr. Aldrich. If Napoleon Lajoie had not hustled onto the scene in September, 1875, Nelson A. would have had too much on his hands and she would have slipped off into the Atlantic ocean of obscurity. With discriminating eye Napoleon selected Woonsocket, where his father had brought the name down from French Canada, for a birthplace.

Lajoie is pronounced in more different ways than any other name in the majors. In talking about the Cleveland fans usually start in with Laj—and then suddenly have their attention attracted by a double and continue after it's all over with "He and our Napoleon—." In the west it is pronounced Laz—and finished by coughing and kicking a hole in the ground, while in the spectacle east it is put over with a concentric twist of the lips and with an underhand fadeaway of the tongue. According to Napoleon it can be done by running the scales a few times and with some finger practice by going at it thus—Lash-u-way.

In early life Napoleon's dreams were of being a cabby and wearing a real top hat and brass buttons with scroll work on them; he cared not for the busy marts of men or for being the tiger tamer in the gilded cage, but onward, upward did he struggle and strive, climbing for the heights while his careless and uncaring companions slept, until one fair day his dreams were realized, and his castles had in the steel structural work—and he was a sure enough cabby with the scroll work and a top hat that the rain couldn't affect—any more. Other boys who had grown up with him in Woonsocket could hardly believe that fame had snatched him from their midst and placed on his brow its jeweled diadem—the top hat.

Although now of another world Napoleon condescended to come back to their locals now and then for a game of ball, while Dobbins munched his oats under the grandstand, until the Fall River club of the New England league persuaded him to ride on its second sack. From there the Nifty Nap drove on to the Phillies, thence on to his present address.

He spends his winters on his farm ten miles north of Cleveland where his hobby is raising dogs. He has so many dogs that he cuts their meat by footpower, and when the moon is full farmers in the next county have to sleep with their windows down.

Napoleon is the most graceful man in any park in the United States. He has a mimeographed letter he sends back in answer to notes from sipping girls. Although tall and heavily built each motion is so polished that you can almost hear him sketching in charcoal and pronouncing vase—vaws.

Every time the Apollo of the parks raises his hand it's a picture; every time he clouts a single the soft purr of girls' lead pencils can be heard all over the bleachers, and every time he stumbles and skids on his ear he does it so gracefully that the ladies in the grandstands bruise their gloves.

TINKER PRAISES ED WALSH

Shortstop Says of All Pitchers He Has Tried to Hit White Sox Spit Ball Artist Is Hardest.

Since Joe Tinker has been out in San Francisco this winter he seems to have had almost as much fun talking baseball with the fans in California as he has playing for fans in the east during the summer.

The other afternoon one of the San Francisco critics got Joe to talk about the pitchers whom he had faced since he faced the hardest to hit is Ed Walsh. At least, he is the hardest for me to hit.

"I don't say he is the greatest pitcher in the world; I think Christy Mathewson is the greatest.

"Do you get that I say he is the greatest; not was the greatest.

"Some people try to tell you that Christy is a dead one. There is no question but that he has slowed up, but I maintain that he is the greatest pitcher in the world.

"He and Walsh are hard to hit for exactly opposite reasons.

"Walsh has you out before you try to bat. To tell you the truth, he over-awes the batter. He is big and strong and has terrific speed and a wonderful break. Walsh is a spitball artist, pure and simple. You know exactly what he is going to throw and what to be prepared for, but you can't hit the ball. He gets your goat.

"Mathewson is exactly opposite in method. Christy tenderly leads you astray, so to speak. You are always sure you can hit him—but you can't. No other pitcher in the world has so many resources."

Yale Men Like to Box.

Yale University's boxing classes are growing bigger each year. Between 150 and 200 students will be enrolled after the Christmas holidays. At the present time there are more students taking up the manly art of self-defense at the New Haven college than at the corresponding time for many years. In the past various members of the faculty have also been members of the boxing class at Yale, and several of them, it is expected, will join again this term. Instructor Mose King says Tom Shevlin, Ted Jones, Dutch Goebel, Ham Andrus, as well as Hobbs and a few of the other stars who made football history at Yale, owe much of their success to boxing. King says it is beneficial to every muscle that a football player brings into use on the gridiron.

O'Day Is Certainly in Bad.

Now they say that in case Hank O'Day fails to make good as manager of the Cincinnati Reds he can fall back on his ability as an umpire. There must be a whole lot of consolation in that for Hank. One job is just about as bad as the other.

he has been a ball player. He paid Mathewson a great compliment and also heaped tributes all over the name of Ed Walsh. Part of his conversation runs as follows: "Of all the baseball pitchers I ever

TREASURE TROVE IN OLD GUN

Find of Turquoises in Arab Firearm Raised Interesting Question as to Their Ownership.

In the narrow and rusty depths of an old Arab gun which had stood for years in the shop of M. Zucconi, an art dealer of 16 Rue Victor Masse, Paris, France, huddled 241 brilliant turquoises, which came to light in a curious manner.

An amateur came into the shop searching for some sort of a decoration for his room. After looking over weapons of all styles, conditions and ages, he selected the Arab gun, which was standing in a corner, its long unused barrel plugged with a cork. The purchase was made and the amateur collector was just about to leave the shop when his curiosity to see what was inside the gun got the better of him. He pulled the cork and lowered the gun. A stream of the sparkling stones poured out, bouncing this way and that into the dust-filled corners of the shop. When the men recovered from their surprise they were both on their knees scrambling for the gems. Immediately a dispute arose as to their ownership, and this was continued for more than half an hour as the two men, both of a naturally dignified disposition, crawled about the dust and cobwebs hunting the jewels. "They're mine!" cried the shopkeeper. "For years this gun has belonged to me; therefore its contents are mine."

"But I have bought the gun and paid for it!" was the retort from behind a stack of other firearms of past ages. "I have bought the gun, and what the gun contains is mine."

After a time the search for the turquoises was finished, but not so the argument, which was rising in temperature every moment. Finally both men agreed to turn the jewels over to the police and let the commissary decide to whom they belonged.

Possibly in some desert camp some Arab chieftain sits by his lonely fire and wonders, cursing the while the white man who years ago robbed him of his fortune and the weapon with which he won his place at the head of his tribe.

What's In a Name?

Mayor Brand Whitlock, of Toledo, was talking about a certain trust magnate. "He's got a bad name," said the mayor-novelist. "Hence he can't get a square deal. He's got as bad a name for a lawsuit as Dodgin had for a manager. Dodgin was the new manager of a biscuit concern. There was a workman at the concern who liked to sneak off to a shed at about three o'clock in the afternoon and smoke a pipe and look over the afternoon paper for half an hour or so. Well, one day, as the workman sat reading and smoking in the shed, Dodgin appeared. 'Who are you?' Dodgin asked sternly, frowning at the idle workman. The workman frowned back. 'Huh, who are you?' said he. 'I'm Dodgin, the new manager,' was the reply. At this the workman smiled. 'So am I,' he said, heartily. 'Come in and have a smoke.'"

His Notion of Home.

A New York surveyor had an assignment that took him into the depth of the wilderness ten miles from camp. The camp was a hundred miles from the nearest railroad station. To his surprise, he heard the sound of an ax. He followed the sound and found a busy woodsman at work. He had cleared the timber away for a few rods about, and on that space had put up a snug log cabin. All the rest, on every side, was the profound, almost untrodden wilderness. The man stopped his work and greeted the surveyor pleasantly. "And where did you come from?" he asked. "From New York," answered the surveyor. "Live there?" said he. "Yes." The man gazed at him as if amazed, and by and by said: "Well, well! Gosh! I don't see how you can bear to live so far away!"

Why a Tailor's Thimble.

If you have ever noticed a tailor's thimble you must have observed that it is not like the one your mother or your sisters use, because it has no top. As there is a reason for everything, there is a reason for this. The stuff your mother sews on is usually very light and the needle is easily pushed through by pressing the top of the thimble against the needle. But tailors often have to sew very coarse and heavy material and they cannot get enough pressure on the top of the thimble, so they use the side and therefore they have no use for a top.

Not Like Canute.

At the Acorn Club in Philadelphia a young lady was praising the wit of the late Bishop Mackay Smith.

"He always had a pun ready," she said, smiling pensively. "I remember meeting him once in Broad street station. I was on the way to Florida at the time, and I said:

"Will it be very wrong, bishop, for me to bathe on Sunday in the Atlantic off Palm Beach?"

"The Atlantic off Palm Beach?" said he. "That, I fear, is a sea over which I have no jurisdiction."

Her Claims to Fame.

Rising Author—Ah, Miss Porkingham, you little know the glory, the self-satisfaction, the pride one feels in having one's name brought before the public mind!

Miss Porkingham (a Chicago beauty)—Well, you bet I do! Why, papa has named a patent ham and his best brand of lard after me.

Mining Zinc at Bromide.

Bromide, Ok., Mar. 26.—The development work on the zinc mine still progresses steadily on, they are now down some fifteen feet. The are they are now getting in to, is certainly promising, rich as can be in zinc and it is a pretty exciting proposition to see them tossing out big chunks after a blast that are seamed with what the state chemist calls practically pure and superior quality.

The prospects are getting better every foot and the vein leaves strong indications of a paying proposition. It is estimated they will have to go down about 25 feet before they can tell exactly what is there.

A quantity of ore will be sent to a smelter this week to test the paying qualities.

A pain in the side or back that catches you when you straighten up calls for a rubbing application of BALLARD'S SNOW LINIMENT. It relaxes the contracted muscles and permits ordinary bodily motion without suffering or inconvenience. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by Ramsey Drug Co.

CHILDREN INJURED

Ordinary Cathartics and Pills and Harsh Physic Cause Distressing Complaints.

You can not be over-careful in the selection of medicine for children. Only the very gentlest bowel medicine should ever be given, except in emergency cases. Ordinary pills, cathartics and purgatives are apt to do more harm than good. They may cause griping, nausea, and other distressing after-effects that are frequently health destroying.

We personally recommend and guarantee Rexall Orderlies as the safest and most dependable remedy, which we know, for constipation and associate bowel disorders. We have such absolute faith in the virtues of this remedy that we sell it on our guarantee of money back in every instance where it fails to give entire satisfaction, and we urge all in need of such medicine to try it at our risk.

Rexall Orderlies are eaten just like candy, are particularly prompt and agreeable in action, may be taken at any time, day or night; do not cause diarrhoea, nausea, griping, excessive looseness, or other undesirable effects. They have a very mild but positive action upon the organs with which they come in contact, apparently acting as a regulative tonic upon the relaxed muscular coat of the bowel, thus overcoming weakness, and aiding to restore the bowels to more vigorous and healthy activity.

Rexall Orderlies commonly completely relieve constipation, except, of course, when of a surgical character. They also tend to overcome the necessity of constantly taking laxatives to keep the bowels in normal condition. Three sizes, 10 cents, 25 cents and 50 cents. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in Ada only at our store—the Rexall store—Gwin & Mays Drug Co.

Feeding Cotton Seed Hulls.

Cotton seed hulls are considered to be about 2-3 as valuable as ordinary hay or fodder, 30 lbs. of hulls being equal to 20 lbs. of hay for a day's feed. At the prices at which hulls sold several years ago, ($4.00 per ton) they were about the cheapest roughage that could be fed. At present prices, $8.00 per ton, they can hardly take the place of prairie hay at $10, although sometimes cattle will show very good results from a change of feed from hay to hulls. Where silage can be produced cheaply there is no doubt but that it will be substituted largely for hulls for feeding cattle.

MANY MEXICAN KILLED

IN FIERCE BATTLE

Jimenez, Mexico, March 25.—At 3 o'clock this afternoon the battle of Corralitos, begun yesterday, continued furiously.

In the rebel camp the federal dead was estimated at 400 and the rebel mortality at 100. The estimate of the government losses is based by General Campao on interviews with prisoners taken. Probably they are exaggerated to an extent.

Among those wounded today it is reported was General Blanquet, one of the most dashing and desperate of the government leaders. The report that General Salas was wounded is incorrect and was due to the omission of a mark of punctuation in a dispatch.

The rebels hold a superior position in heights on the flanks and in front of the government troops. The latter, despite their losses and disadvantages of position, show no signs of surrender. As viewed by General Campao, however, their only chance of continuing the fight much longer is the arrival of General Aubert with 500 cavalry from Torreon. Aubert is reported to have started from Torreon
